

EMILIE SOTO

VOLUNTEER COORDINATOR

Emilie has long been an advocate and supporter of human rights; she believes in the distinct value of immigrants and that they are an integral asset to the functioning of society. She has spent 30 years dedicating her free time in a volunteer capacity to organizations such as Big Brother Big Sister, AIDS Project, Casa Hogar in Mexico, Glenstone Healthcare, Junior League of Mexico, Child Abuse Prevention Services and numerous other community-based organizations.

She earned her MSW from USC in 2003 and early in her career worked as a Child and Family Counselor, Community Educator and Mental Health Case Manager. She subsequently obtained her real estate license and opened City Real Estate in Asheville, NC. Over the past 2 decades she has worked in an entrepreneurial capacity in real estate, interior design, events planning and retail/product development. She currently lives in Larchmont, NY after a recent move from Dublin, Ireland. She is married and the mother of two sweet teenage boys.

Her global experiences living with her family as expats in Mexico and Europe for close to 10 years, and having traveled around 20+ countries informs her views on cultural diversity and global citizenship.
